CUBA Seminar
The Cuba Project

What if They Lift the Embargo?
A Cuban Debate on US-Cuba Relations

Rafael Hernández
Editor, Revista TEMAS
Visiting Researcher, University of Puerto Rico

Rafael Hernández is Senior Research Fellow at the Centro de Investigación y Desarrollo de la Cultura Cubana “Juan Marinello” and Editor of TEMAS, a Cuban quarterly of social sciences and humanities. Dr. Hernández was Director of North American studies at the Centro de Estudios sobre América (CEA) for 18 years. He has been Visiting Professor and Research Fellow at Columbia, Harvard, the Woodrow Wilson Center, Johns Hopkins, the Centro de Investigación y Docencia Económicas (CIDE) and the Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM). He has published several books and essays on Cuban and U.S. policies, inter-American relations, international security, migration and Cuban culture, society and politics. His most recent article focuses on US-Cuban relations, “Los árboles y el bosque. Políticas cubanas pos Elián”, was published by Foreign Affairs en Español (Fall, 2001).

Wednesday
November 28, 2001
7 P.M.

Skylight Conference Room (Room 9100)
The Graduate Center, City University of New York
365 Fifth Avenue
(@ 34th Street, across from Empire State Bldg.)

To reserve, send email to cubaproject.gc.cuny.edu or leave message at 212 817-2096

This event is organized by The Cuba Project (Queens College and GSUC/City University of New York), with generous support from the Ford Foundation and the Christopher Reynolds Foundation. The Cuba Project is affiliated with the Bildner Center for Western Hemisphere Studies.
CUBA Seminar
The Cuba Project

The Helms-Burton Law: A Five-year Assessment

Joaquín Roy
University of Miami

Joaquín Roy (Lic. Law, University of Barcelona, 1996; Ph.D, Georgetown University, 1973) is Jean Monnet professor of European Integration at the School of International Studies, Director of the European Union Center, and Senior Research Associate of the North-South Center at the University of Miami. He was previously on the faculty of the School of International Studies of Johns Hopkins University and Emory University. His research and teaching areas are: the European Union, history of political ideas, Latin American thought, intellectual history and literature, contemporary ideologies, regional integration, transitions to democracy, and human rights policies. Cuba, Argentina, Spain, Central America, and European-Latin American relations are among his regional interests. His articles and reviews have been published in Revista Iberoamericana, Journal of Inter-American Studies, Revista Española de Derecho Comunitario, Revista de Estudios Internacionales, Afers Internacionals, Política Exterior, Relaciones Internacionales, and The European Union Review. He has written 25 books, among his most recent publications are: The Ibero-American Space/El Espacio Iberoamericano (U. Miami/University of Barcelona, 1996), Memorias de mi juventud en Cuba durante la guerra separatista (Barcelona: Península, 1999), La siempre fiel: un siglo de relaciones hispano-cubanas (1898-1998) (University of Madrid, 1999), and Cuba, the U.S. and the Helms-Burton Doctrine (University of Florida Press, 2000).

Thursday
November 29, 2001
4 P.M.

Concourse Level (Room C-197)
The Graduate Center, City University of New York
365 Fifth Avenue
(@ 34th Street, across from Empire State Bldg.)

To reserve, send email to cubaproject.gc.cuny.edu or leave message at 212 817-2096

This event is organized by The Cuba Project (Queens College and GSUC/City University of New York), with generous support from the Ford Foundation and the Christopher Reynolds Foundation. The Cuba Project is affiliated with the Bildner Center for Western Hemisphere Studies.