Características sociodemográficas de la población cubana y la producción social de la salud*

Gilberto Javier Cabrera & Rolando García (CEDEM - Center for Demographic Studies)

Dr. Gilberto Javier Cabrera Trimillo has completed many works as either a researcher or consultant. His primary areas of interests include: issues of environmental education, teacher and researcher training, and professionalization of the ecological economics preparation of specialists and of community work as a function of the relationship between population, environment and development. He has published extensively, among these are: Ecological Economy and Desertification CEDEM, University of Havana, 1998. Ecological Economy and Local Administration. CEDEM, University of Havana, 1999. Economy, Ecology and Human Development CEDEM, University of Havana, 2000. Economy and Environment: Challenges and Perspectives CEDEM, University of Havana, 2000. Economy and Ecology to ten years of Rio 92 CEDEM, University of Havana, 2001.

Friday
September 14, 2001
2:00 P.M.

Room C203 (Concourse Level)
The Graduate Center
365 Fifth Avenue (@ 34th Street)

* Please note this presentation is in Spanish with minor interjections in English

To reserve, send email to bildner@gc.cuny.edu or leave message at 212 817-2096

This event is organized by The Cuba Project (Queens College and GSUCity University of New York), with generous support from the Ford Foundation and the Christopher Reynolds Foundation. The Cuba Project is affiliated with the Bildner Center for Western Hemisphere Studies.