Countdown to Brazil’s October 6th Elections

David Fleischer
University of Brasilia

David Fleischer holds a Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Florida (1972). Fleischer joined the faculty of the University of Brasília in 1972, where he was Chair of the Dept. of Political Science and International Relations (1985-1989) and a member of the University Council (1985-1993). He has held visiting posts at the University of Florida, SUNY-Albany and George Washington University, and has done research and consulting on Legislative Development and Election Systems in Latin America and Africa. Fleischer has published widely on Brazilian politics (Congress, elections, parties) and North-South Relations. David has performed technical consulting missions on elections systems and legislative development in Latin America (Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Central America), and Africa (São Tomé & Príncipe, Mozambique and South Africa). He is also active in political risk analysis and has published the Brazil Focus-Weekly Report since mid-1996. One of his current research interests is comparative political corruption, and he is the President of a new NGO, TCC-Brazil (Transparency, Consciousness and Citizenship), which is the national chapter of Transparency International.
