Election Analysis: What’s Next for Argentina?

Hector Schamis, Fellow, Woodrow Wilson International Center
Mr. Schamis has authored several articles on Latin American political economy issues, authoritarianism, and democratization, and a book entitled "Re-Forming the State: The Politics of Privatization in Latin America and Europe." He is currently a Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington DC.

Maria Victoria Murillo, Columbia University
Vicotria Murillo is Associate Professor of Political Science and International and Public Affairs at Columbia University. She is currently working on the politics of policymaking in Latin America with a particular focus on the privatization and regulation of public utilities, labor regulations, and education policies.

Javier Corrales, Amherst College
Prof. Corrales currently teaches political science at Amherst College in Amherst, Massachusetts. His areas of interest include the politics of economic policy reform in developing countries. He is the author of "Presidents Without Parties: the Politics of Economic Reform in Argentina and Venezuela in the 1990s" (Penn State Press 2002). He was a Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington, DC., and a consultant for the World Bank and the United Nations.

Roberto Butinof, Universidad de Buenos Aires
Dr. Butinof was first trained as a medical doctor in Argentina. He created and directed, in Geneva, the Institute for the Strategic Study of Peace, Knowledge and Human Relations (SerMacavaLaTa). Roberto Butinof is currently a professor of International Relations at the University of Buenos Aires Law School and School of Defense. He is also working as a consultant for several international organizations and political groups in Argentina and abroad.

Location
Room 9206 (ninth floor)
The Graduate Center
365 Fifth Avenue

Friday, April 4
4:30 p.m.

To reserve, send email to bildner@gc.cuny.edu or leave message at 212 817-2096