Objectifying and Embodying Spanish: Third CUNY Symposium in Glottopolitical Studies

*Co-Sponsored with LAILaC

Welcome by José Del Valle, Graduate Center

Luis Bernardo Quesada Nieto, Graduate Center & Queens College
"Language and Conversation in the Mexican 19th century. A Glottopolitical Approach to Good Manners and Etiquette Normativity"

Inés Vañó García, Saint Anselm College "The role of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish in Shaping a New Academic Field (1917–1944): The Political History of the Teaching of the Spanish Language in the U.S."

Mike Mena, Graduate Center "A Friendlier Linguistic Terrorism: Conceptualizing the "Language–Elsewhere"

Beatriz Lado, Lehman College & Graduate Center "Blurring the lines between L2 and HL Learners: Linguistic and Socio-affective Needs of Language Minoritized and Racialized Learners in Diverse Spanish Classrooms"

Ofelia García, Graduate Center "Translanguaging Theory/Practice: Consequences for the Study and the Teaching of Spanish"

Moderated by Miki Makihara, Graduate Center and Queens College

This is an online event.

Register via Zoom at: https://gc-cuny-edu.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZlpf-muqz8rEtEu3XgZgL2_HhzPLyVo3fWv

10/08 3:30-6:20PM