The Promise of Transformation

September 28, Joanne Rappaport, Georgetown University
“Engendering Mestizaje in Early Colonial Bogota”

October 5, James Higham, New York University
“The Complexity of Communication in the Rhesus Monkey”

October 12, Carole McGranahan, University of Colorado
“Covert Humanitarianism: The CIA, Ethnographic Sympathies, and Tibet”

October 19, P. Sean Brotherton, Yale University
“Fueling la Revolución: Itinerant Physicians and Shifting Moral Economies in Post-Soviet Cuba”

October 26, Sandra Morgan, University of Oregon
“Taxpayer Identity Politics in the Era of the Tea Party”. Co-sponsored by CUNY Center for the Humanities

November 2, Paul Eiss, Carnegie Mellon University
“Signs of Violence: Messaging, Media and Politics in Mexico’s ‘Drug War’”

November 9, John Jackson, University of Pennsylvania

November 30, Alexander Dent, George Washington University
“Policing Intellectual Property in Brazil”

December 7, Mark Leone, University of Maryland
“The Archaeology of Wye House and Frederick Douglass in Easton, Maryland.”

Fridays 4:15–6pm. Room C415A (Concourse Level, One floor below main entrance)

Reception to follow in room 6402