IMMERSE YOURSELF IN THE WORLD OF GRADUATE EDUCATION
Our master’s degrees prepare students for a range of professional opportunities as well as doctoral education. You will take classes alongside doctoral students. You will not just receive knowledge; you will create it through hands-on projects and research. Students in our master’s programs develop the deep understanding and problem-solving capabilities to thrive in a changing world.

M.A./M.S. PROGRAMS

- Biography and Memoir
- Classics
- Cognitive Neuroscience
- Comparative Literature
- Data Analysis and Visualization
- Data Science
- Digital Humanities
- International Migration Studies
- Liberal Studies*
- Linguistics
- Middle Eastern Studies
- Nanoscience
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Quantitative Methods in the Social Sciences
- Women’s and Gender Studies

*MASTER’S IN LIBERAL STUDIES CONCENTRATIONS

Our interdisciplinary Liberal Studies program allows you to focus on an area of personal interest, based on our concentrations spanning the humanities, sciences, and social sciences.

- Africana Studies
- American Studies
- Approaches to Modernity
- Archaeology of the Classical, Late Antique, and Islamic Worlds
- Childhood and Youth Studies
- Fashion Studies
- Film Studies
- Global Early Modern Studies
- Individualized Studies
- International Studies
- Latin American, Caribbean, and Latino Studies
- Law and Society
- New York Studies
- Science and Technology Studies
- Social and Environmental Justice Studies
- Sustainability Science and Education
- Urban Education
- Western Intellectual Traditions
- Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies

www.gc.cuny.edu/admissions
Outstanding Doctoral Education

Our doctoral programs are among the best in the world, and, with our fellowships, most students attend tuition-free. Graduate Center faculty and students are winners of the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes and Guggenheim and Fulbright fellowships, among many other accolades. Our location in the heart of New York City gives students access to tremendous career and cultural opportunities.

PH.D. PROGRAMS

Anthropology
Art History
Audiology (Au.D.)
Biochemistry
Biology
Business
Chemistry
Classics
Comparative Literature
Computer Science
Criminal Justice
Economics
Earth and Environmental Sciences
Educational Psychology
English
French

History
Latin American, Iberian, and Latino Cultures
Linguistics
Mathematics
Music (Ph.D./D.M.A.)
Nursing
Philosophy
Physics
Political Science
Psychology
Social Welfare
Sociology
Speech-Language-Hearing Sciences
Theatre and Performance
Urban Education

At The Graduate Center’s Advanced Science Research Center, students collaborate with scientists renowned for their expertise in nanoscience, neuroscience, photonics, structural biology, and environmental science on transformative discoveries and innovations.
Take the Next Step

Curious?
We know you have questions, and we’re happy to answer them.

ADMISSIONS

Admissions requirements and application deadlines vary by program. Learn more about our admissions process and how to apply. www.gc.cuny.edu/admissions

FINANCIAL AID

Most—90 percent—of our doctoral students receive five-year fellowship packages, and select scholarships are available to master’s students.

Find out about our generous financial aid resources. www.gc.cuny.edu/finaid

EVEN MORE

Ask us questions about The Graduate Center, our programs, or the application process.

Office of Admissions
The Graduate Center of The City University of New York
212.817.7470
admissions@gc.cuny.edu
www.gc.cuny.edu/admissions

GRADUATE CENTER FACTS

3,700+ students
24% of incoming students are minorities
21% of doctoral students are international
130+ core faculty
1,700+ GC faculty drawn from other CUNY campuses
90% of incoming doctoral students have five-year fellowship packages

(data from fall 2017)

Follow us on:

@GC_CUNY  theGraduateCenter  thegraduatecenter  gc.cuny.edu/LinkedIn  GradCenterCUNY

Photo credits: Ju-Feng Luo, Ron Hester
Knowledge Is a Public Good

As a student at The Graduate Center of The City University of New York, you will join a diverse community of scholars, scientists, activists, and artists committed to creating knowledge and driving change.

You will have the opportunity to work with our acclaimed faculty members—leaders in their fields who are invested in your success. You, in turn, will have the chance to teach and mentor undergraduate students throughout CUNY.

At The Graduate Center, you will benefit from our outstanding laboratories and world-renowned research and artistic centers.

Whether you are pursuing scholarly interests, seeking in-depth preparation for a profession in academia, or advancing your career opportunities in other exciting fields, your degree from The Graduate Center will empower you to excel.

Graduate Center alumni are top authors, scholars, corporate and nonprofit leaders, activists, entrepreneurs, policymakers, and creators who are eager to open doors for fellow graduates.

Our commitment to graduate education is about more than just supporting new areas of interdisciplinary exploration. It’s about giving students the resources, strengthened by research and outreach partnerships at CUNY and throughout New York, to thrive in any workplace.

Seize New York City’s cultural, intellectual, and scholarly resources with a degree from The Graduate Center, CUNY.
An Education That Sets You Apart

We are here to help you realize your ambitions, and we are proud of our thousands of alumni who have achieved theirs. Meet a few of our alumni.

Carrie Rebora Barratt (Ph.D. ’90, Art History) was recently named the first woman to lead The New York Botanical Garden, following a long and distinguished career at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Andrew Bast (M.A. ’09, Political Science), an associate producer for 60 Minutes, has covered an array of hot-button issues, from North Korea’s demilitarized zone to gun violence and U.S. intelligence secrets.

More than 90 percent of Americans with HIV have taken a life-saving drug invented by Dennis Liotta (Ph.D. ’74, Chemistry).

Ph.D. candidate Gregory Pardlo (English) won the 2015 Pulitzer Prize for Poetry for his book Digest, which was praised by the judges for its “clear-voiced poems that bring readers the news from 21st-century America.”

In 2017, Daniel R. Porterfield (Ph.D. ’95, English), president of Franklin & Marshall College, was named to succeed Walter Isaacson as president and CEO of the Aspen Institute.

In early 2018, J. Phillip Thompson (Ph.D. ’90, Political Science), an urban planner known for his success as a coalition builder, was named New York City’s deputy mayor for strategic initiatives.

Brea Tremblay (M.A.L.S. ’13), in her role as editorial lead, handles digital content strategy at Viacom, the global entertainment content company.

LuAnn Walther (Ph.D. ’78), a senior vice president at Knopf, is the paperback publisher for Margaret Atwood, Toni Morrison, Oliver Sacks, Chinua Achebe, Patti Smith, and many other best-selling writers.