NEW GC Online, CUNY Academic Commons Group

The Teaching and Learning Center and GC Digital Initiatives have launched a private group on the CUNY Academic Commons -- GC Online -- which you can join at http://cuny.is/group-gc-online. This group exists for members of the GC community to seek and share resources about teaching online with one another.

If you do not yet have an account on the Commons, you can create one following these instructions: https://help.commons.gc.cuny.edu/getting-started-with-the-commons/.

Once you've joined, the group will operate like a listserv via the email address gc-online@groups.commons.gc.cuny.edu.

They will be posting regular updates about training and other support structures as they develop throughout the summer. Based on momentum and conversations in those spaces, other groups may be created around emerging common areas of interest or activity.

Documentation

By early August, the TLC and GCDI teams will produce simple documentation for faculty members looking to launch seminar spaces using the CUNY Academic Commons, to integrate Manifold into their courses, and for approaches to managing synchronous course sessions using Zoom or other video conferencing software. GC IT will create additional documentation for using Blackboard, and setting up Zoom meetings, and the GC Library will be distributing documentation on accessing materials. Other documentation may be created in response to needs expressed via the GC Online group on the Commons and program-level discussions.

Workshop Week

During the week of August 17-21, the TLC, GCDI, GCIT and other campus partners will offer a set of synchronous online workshops for members of the GC community preparing to teach online. The full schedule of these workshops will be made available in early August. In addition, we will make available to the community several “go-at-your-own-pace” workshops, adapted from the TLC’s Teach@CUNY Summer Institute and GCDI’s Digital Research Institute.

Consultations

Staff from the TLC and GCDI may be available for a limited number of individual consultations with faculty members in August. Plans for these consultations will be announced the week of August 3.

Recommended Internal Program Conversations

The TLC and GCDI teams encourage each program to work to develop internal communities of practice and reflection that will continue in the fall semester. Questions to help guide these internal conversations are available here:

- Guiding Questions for Program-Level Conversations About Teaching Online at the Graduate Center, Spring-Fall 2020
Digital and Web-Based Tools for Online Collaboration

Zoom
IT offers the Zoom web-conferencing platform to GC faculty, and staff to help you communicate and collaborate with colleagues and peers across campus or the world. Its highly accessible features allow you to attend video or audio meetings, hold webinars, share presentations and transfer files, teach and attend online classes in real time, and much more. Meetings can be joined from desktop computers, laptops, tablets, or smartphones. Sessions can be recorded so those who cannot attend can still benefit from this tool.

To request a GC Zoom license, please fill out this form.

Please make sure to sign up for a Zoom account before you fill out the IT request form.

Please note: It is not necessary to have a Zoom account in order to join and participate in meetings. An account is only needed if you wish to host your own meetings.

Zoom Best Practices

- Don’t post Zoom links on a public website or social media.
- Don’t use your personal meeting ID for meetings.
- Always schedule your meetings by logging into the GC Zoom website where you’ll have access to all the security features included with Zoom.
- Set up a meeting for each Zoom session for your class/meeting sessions. Reusing Zoom meeting IDs creates better odds that the Meeting ID may have been shared on the open web.
- Avoid using the “Start A Meeting” or “Instant Meeting” option as it does not give you the opportunity to modify the meeting settings.

Zoom for Remote Dissertation Defenses
Please note that all doctoral dissertation defenses must be performed remotely until further notice. However, The Graduate Center does not currently provide students with Zoom licenses.

We therefore ask that all Committee Chairs be responsible for hosting the Zoom meetings for their students’ remote dissertation defenses. If you do not yet have a licensed Zoom account, please follow the instructions above. For any additional questions, please reach out to Swe Swe Htay, APO for Administration and Program Management (shtay@gc.cuny.edu).
Dropbox
Dropbox is designed as a workspace that helps you keep all of your content in one place and have it readily accessible from any device. CUNY is providing all active faculty and staff with unlimited Dropbox storage (student accounts are limited to 15 GB), which will allow them to organize and archive all of their work in one location without worrying about hard drive capacity or data security. Dropbox Paper, available as part of the package, allows collaboration within the same document in real-time by multiple users, as well as embedding of videos, PDFs, images, and PowerPoint presentations for an all-in-one experience.

To claim your Dropbox account, please navigate to https://dropbox.cuny.edu/ and log in with your CUNY Login account (Username: Firstname.Lastname##@login.cuny.edu).

Microsoft Office 365 for Education
The City University of New York is providing Microsoft Office 365 for Education to all active faculty and staff via the Microsoft Office in Education program. The license remains active until you leave the University, at which point it will be in read-only mode and you will be prompted to pay a license fee to Microsoft or stop using Microsoft Office 365 for Education.

The Microsoft Office 365 for Education suite includes OneDrive for Business, SharePoint, Yammer, and Skype for Business, as well as widely used Microsoft applications such as Word, Excel, PowerPoint and the downloadable Office ProPlus suite. It also includes 1 TB of storage per user.

To access Microsoft Office 365 for Education, please log in via the CUNY Web Applications Login page. For more information, see the Video Tutorials and the FAQ page.

Please review the Acceptable Use of University Data in the Cloud Policy before storing, synching, and/or sharing data in any of cloud service, including Microsoft Office 365 for Education.

FAQs

1. Does the Psychology Executive Office set up Zoom meetings for remote Dissertation Defenses?
   a. NO. We ask that all Committee Chairs be responsible for hosting the Zoom meetings for their students’ remote dissertation defenses. If you do not yet have a licensed Zoom account, or have additional questions about using Zoom, please follow the instructions above in the “Zoom” section of this document.

2. How do I get the Executive Officer’s signature for academic-related forms, such as Change of Grade Forms?
   a. Please reach out to Judith Kubran (jkubran@gc.cuny.edu), APO for Student Academic Progress and Support. Judith will always get the Executive Officer’s signature on all forms. Please do not go directly to the Psychology Executive Office for signatures. This will create many administrative problems and will delay the processing of your paperwork.

3. Will there be in-person classes for the Fall 2020 semester?
   a. All classroom instruction will continue remotely for the Fall 2020 semester. Please check The Graduate Center’s Coronavirus Guidance and Updates for periodic updates concerning classroom instruction.
