Credit/No Credit Option for Spring 2020 Courses

As part of the City University of New York's response to the COVID-19 pandemic, all students will have the option to convert any or all letter grades (A-F) they earn in their Spring 2020 classes to Credit/No Credit grading. If you select this option and pass the course (C- grade or better) the grade of CR (credit) will be recorded on your transcript. Credit is earned for courses graded CR and the grade is not calculated into the GPA. A grade of NC (no credit) will be recorded if you choose the Credit/No Credit option and fail the course. The NC (no credit) grade does not earn credit nor does it get calculated into your GPA. Students will have up to 20 business days after the University's final grade submission deadline or the date of actual grade posting, whichever is later, to select this option.

We will provide details on how to select this grading option as soon as the University makes the information available.
