CENTER FOR ADVANCED STUDY IN EDUCATION

A Research and Development Center at The Graduate Center, City University of New York
CASE History

- CASE has been a leading educational research center at The Graduate Center for over 40 years. It is one of the longest operating centers at the GC.
- Since its inception, CASE has generated more than 75 million dollars in external funding from a wide range of private, foundation, and governmental sources. CASE ranks among the leaders, if not the leading, single all time grant securing entity at the GC and a leading employer of students using external funding.
- CASE grant activities have provided highly visible direct services to the community in the form of staff/educator training, curriculum development and evaluation research.
- CASE has provided pre, during, and post grant management services to PIs. This support has been valued by GC PIs and spurs interest in submitting grant applications at the GC through CASE.
