

Health Psychology & Clinical Science

REVISED COLLOQUIUM SCHEDULE- SPRING 2015

THURS 2/19	Ellen-ge Denton, PsyD, College of Staten Island Neighborhood Matters: The impact of Socio-cultural Factors on Acute Coronary Syndrome
WED 2/25	Scott Russo, PhD, Mt. Sinai School of Medicine Motivational Neurocircuitry in Stress and Aggression
THURS 2/26	Randy P. Auerbach, Ph.D., Harvard Medical School Adolescent Depression: Etiology to Treatment
WED 3/4	JoAnn Difede, PhD, Weill-Cornell Medical Center On the Precipice of a Paradigm Shift: Novel Therapeutics for PTSD and Anxiety Disorders
WED 3/4 3 pm	Sara Algoe, PhD, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill Gratitude, Relationships and Health [BASP]
THURS 3/12	Deborah Walder, PhD, Brooklyn College Neurodevelopment and Mental Health Risk: Retaining an Eye on Women
WED 3/25 12-1 pm	Elizabeth Brondolo, PhD, St. John's University Examining the Social Cognitive Processes Linking Racism to Depression
WED 4/1 12-1 pm	Sally Dickerson, University of California, Irvine Manipulating social-evaluative threat: Effects on cognitive appraisals, emotional responses, and cortisol reactivity
THURS 4/16	Mark Hatzenbuehler, PhD, Columbia University Structural Stigma and the Health of Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Populations
WED 4/22 12-1 pm	Rita Goldstein, PhD, Mt. Sinai School of Medicine Targeting the Prefrontal Cortex for Intervention in Addiction: Lessons from Human Neuroimaging and Neuropsychological Studies
WED 5/6 12-1 pm	Brooke Wells, PhD, Hunter College Feasibility of Expressive Writing for HIV Behavioral Risk Reduction

HPCS Foundation talks are at the Graduate Center, Room 6494, from 10-11:30 am

HPCS Wednesday talks are at Hunter College, Room 611N, from 12-1;

BASP talks are Wednesdays, Room 6304.01, from 3-4:30 pm

For more information contact Prof. Tracey Revenson TRevenson@gc.cuny.edu