Strategies for Female Empowerment

Women and men alike now recognize how difficult it is to gain a leadership role at work compared to a man. Have you struggled to have your gifts seen and accepted because of your gender? In this course, the instructor teaches you everyday actions to reframe your distinct power and the gifts of other women in your workplace. Upon completing this course, you should feel confident in your ability to advocate and support yourself and other women around you. (LinkedIn Learning, online)

Success Strategies for Women in the Workplace

Women face unique challenges on their journey to the upper echelons of management. In this course, the instructor shares strategies designed to help women overcome these obstacles to fast-track their professional development. Learn the steps you can take to overcome self-doubt, and define and communicate clear professional boundaries. Discover a practical framework you can use to deal with dominant people and regain power in unbalanced situations. (LinkedIn Learning, online)

Leadership Strategies for Women

Countless sources have documented the difficulties women face in reaching the top tiers of today’s businesses. Creating an environment of “inclusive excellence,” where both women and men can thrive, takes the right skills and strategy. The instructors will discuss the common challenges that women in leadership face—including gender bias, communication barriers, and imposter syndrome—and introduce strategies to overcome them. Plus, get tips for championing women’s leadership and becoming a strong ally. (LinkedIn Learning, online)

Unlocking Authentic Communication in a Culturally-Diverse Workplace

What does it take to be a great communicator, particularly in a global and culturally-diverse modern workplace? The answer is, largely, authenticity. In this course, the instructor teaches key principles of authentic communication, real-world tips for practicing authentic communication, and how to develop cultural awareness so you can build relationships, support colleagues from underrepresented groups, and be a more effective professional. (LinkedIn Learning, online)

Additional resources and information about Women’s Equality Day can be found here.